Vitae

Don Antunes is a Research Fellow in Strategy and Organization at IMD International Institute for Management Development located in Lausanne, Switzerland. Before joining IMD, he was a Research Fellow at the Dean's Office of Warwick Business School, where he conducted research on business schools rankings, history of management thought and on the resource based-view of the firm. He has been Director of Management Studies at Lady Margaret Hall, and Lecturer at Queens College, two of the colleges of the University of Oxford. He has also taught at MBA and Executive Education levels at the Universities of Warwick, Cambridge and ESCP-EAP. Prior to this, Don worked as journalist, management consultant and secondary school teacher in Brazil.

He studied for his PhD in Management Studies at the Judge Business School, University of Cambridge. He has a Masters in Communications, from the University of Sao Paulo, in Brazil, a Diploma in Publishing Business, from Oxford Brookes University in the UK, and a BSc. in Journalism from the Federal University of Minas Gerais, in Brazil.

Don Antunes is particularly interested in the media, consulting and education industries. For his research, he has used simulation, qualitative methods and action research. He received a Best Paper Award at the Academy of Management, Management Consulting Division in 2003 for a paper titled "Transformative Approach", which discusses methodological and philosophical issues to set up strategy events.

He is the Guest Editor (with Bettina Buechel) for the 2007 Special Issue of the leading journal Academy of Management Learning and Education. He is an active member of the Academy of Management and the Strategic Management Society and has been a reviewer for a number of journals.

A native of Brazil, Don is also a British citizen and speaks English, Portuguese, Spanish and some French.
